

Don't Lift Your Head

G

Don't lift up your head

C

G

there's no need for you crying

close your eyes little one

G

don't watch your dear ones dying the life that you've come to know burns in the fires of freedom the dreams you may have had a whisper of smoke in the heavens

G C

G

I know, I know that some day

G

I will be gone, gone on my way

for you dear child this place

is your home

lay your head in my arms and I will so hold you so tight a small body is trembling we will get through the night

I could hold you forever would love to carry you home take you far, far away to a place that I know

Refrain

I doubt that you'll understand I know that I never will how in the name of humanity we continue to kill

when your heart returns to home you will begin to cry when the Lord returns again maybe we'll all know why

Refrain

soon the morning sun will rise and I will see you no more never will I forget you child a light in the midst of war

I have known the loneliness of being a thousand miles from home took one look in your eyes my love never felt so alone

Refrain
